

Is there any other loan that will help me to pay for the down payment of a property?

Is there any other loan that will help me to pay for the down payment of a property?

Yes, you may use a bridging loan, which is a short-term loan designed to tide the borrower over a period when he needs cash. However, because bridging loans are usually available for those taking up a housing loan from the same bank. Some people also use this type of loan while waiting for the release of his CPF funds.